WELCOME RAIN

Reservoirs Gain Appreciably.

SOLUTION OF WATER PROBLEM AT HAND.

The arrival of the summer rains has once again averted a serious water shortage in the Colony, and although the average rainfall for the year up to 10 a.m. to-day was 16 inches in arrears of the average, to-day's storm will reduce this deficit by about two inches.

An appreciable rise in the reservoirs resulted from the heavy storm which occurred on Monday, and to-day's rain will result in an even greater collection. Figures showing the present storage will not be available until Tuesday next, but it is anticipated that the position this year is slightly better than at the corresponding period of last year.

The total rainfall since 10 a.m. this morning until 2.30 p.m. was 1.845 inches, 1.02 of this falling since 11.30 a.m. This brings the total for the year to 10,025 as against an average of 24,33 inches. The Royal Observatory's to-day's weather forecast predicted showery weather with moderate south-west or variable winds.

NEW SENSATION IN J. P. MORGAN SENATE INQUIRY

Attack Launched On Prosecutor.

1923 MURDER TRIAL CHARGES

Banking Partnership Details

Washington, To-day. A sensational development occurred in the Morgan inquiry yesterday, when Mr. John Hackett, describing himself as a former Special Deputy Police Commissioner of New York City called on the Senate Banking Committee to file charges against Pecora, investigating counsel.

Mr. Hackett handed the members of the Committee a pamphlet criticising Mr. Pecora's handling of the murder of "Dot" King in 1923, when Mr. Pecora was Assistant District Attorney.

A secret partnership agreement of Morgan and Co. was published yesterday afternoon. It was drawn up on March 31, 1916, after the death of the elder, Mr. J. P. Morgan, founder of the firm, and provides, inter alia, that in the event of a dispute between the partners, the decision of Mr. J. P. Morgan is final.

Mr. Morgan may compel any partner to withdraw forthwith, and himself fix the amount due to the partner concerned. No transaction can be made to which any partner objects.

The names of the partners were not published, but a member of the Senate Committee announced that there were no "secret partners."

Partners are forbidden to speculate except with their private means, and no partner is allowed to engage in any other business.

In the event of the death of Mr. Morgan, the partnership will be dissolved, unless the partners representing the majority of the interest notify Mr. Morgan's executors that they desire a three-year extension.

A further list of selected customers for Messrs. J. P. Morgan and Company's stock sales, shows that 56,500 units of Niagara-Hudson stock were sold for $29 in 1929, when the market price was $36.

The list includes Mr. Owen D. Young, Mr. R. B. Mellon and Mr. Harvey Couch, who is now Director of the Reconstruction Corporation. — Reuter.

LORD WEMYSS BURIED.

Simple Ceremony At Village In Fife.

London, To-day. Admiral of the Fleet, Lord Wemyss, was yesterday buried in the little cemetery of the Chapel Garden, East Wemyss, Fifeshire.

His bier was a farm cart drawn by two horses, and his grave is set in a quiet corner of the family's private cemetery close to the coast of Fifeshire. — British Wireless Service.

WAR DEBT QUESTION IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

Chancellor Reticent Regarding June Instalment To U.S.

London, To-day. Asked whether any decision had been reached by the Government regarding the payment of the next instalment of the war debt to the United States, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain yesterday said that it would not be desirable for him to make any statement in regard to the matter at present. — British Wireless Service.

A LUMP SUM PAYMENT?

SENATOR'S SURPRISING SUGGESTION
Roosevelt's Difficulties Appreciated.

MR. RAINY FEARS PRESIDENT'S POWERS.

"How Can Britain Pay?"

Washington, To-day. War debts were discussed in the United States Senate yesterday, and a keen sense of realities was shown.

Senator T. Y. Dings, of Maryland, proposed a lump sum payment and said that he would welcome any genius who could show how Britain with only $750,000,000 in gold, can pay $4,000,000,000 when the United States will not accept goods.

The Democratic Leader Senator Robinson said that President Roosevelt realised the difficulties of collection of the debts, but there was every indication that he was carrying out, so far as can be done, the existing congressional resolution against cancellation and revision.

Meanwhile, in the House of Representatives, Mr. Rainey, said that the proposed Tariff Bill will give the President power to make reciprocal tariff pacts effective on his proclamation, and the Senate will be unable to reject them.

The significance of this is, that it may serve as a precedent for war debt negotiations in London, and may probably result in a moratorium. — Reuter.

UNCERTAINTY IN LONDON

Last-Minute Decision Probable.

THE JUNE WAR DEBT INSTALMENT.

London, To-day. In connection with Mr. Neville Chamberlain's answer in the House of Commons yesterday, to the question regarding the Government's intentions concerning the June war debt instalment, when he said that it was undesirable to make any statement at present, it is understood that the Cabinet has taken no decision, as yet, whether to pay or not, as it is not known whether the United States intends to insist on payment.

The uncertainty is not expected to be removed until a day or two before June 15. — Reuter.

FOUR POWER PACT AGREEMENT.

2 STEAMERS COLLIDE

SEVERAL OF THE CREW INJURED

S.S. Guildford Castle Holed In Starboard.

SHIP BEGINS TO SETTLE

37 Passengers Landed At Cuxhaven Unhurt

London, Yesterday.

Three lives are feared lost and several seamen are known to be injured as the result of a collision between two British liners near the mouth of the River Elbe, off Cuxhaven, North Germany.

The accident occurred in the night, during a dense fog, the vessels involved being the Union Castle liner, s.s. Guildford Castle, and Messrs. Holt's motorship "Stentor."

The "Guildford Castle" was badly holed in the starboard bow and quickly began to settle, but the "Stentor" suffered comparatively minor damage, and after the impact steamed round to help in the work of rescue.

Thirty-seven passengers on board the Castle liner were mostly asleep at the time and none were hurt, but two deck boys and the cook are reported missing.

The passengers were immediately summoned to the boat stations in their night attire, and were taken aboard the "Stentor" and several German vessels which came quickly to the assistance in reply to the sinking vessel's. S. O. S. They were landed at Cuxhaven.

Search was made for the missing men, but owing to the inky darkness and the fog which lay almost on the water, no trace of them was found. The "Stentor" later proceeded to Hamburg, to which port she was en route from London when the collision took place.

The "Guildford Castle" was proceeding from Hamburg to London.

The s.s. Guildford Castle is a steel twin screw vessel of 7,935 tons gross and was built in 1911 by Barclay, Curle and Co. Ltd., at Glasgow, for the Union-Castle Mail S.S. Co. Ltd. Her dimensions are length 452.1 feet breadth 35 feet and depth 13 feet.

The m.v. "Stentor" is a more modern vessel being built by the Caledonian Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. Ltd., of Dundee, for service with the China Mutual S.N. Co. Ltd. for whom Messrs. Holt are Managers. She has a gross tonnage of 6,620 tons. Her dimensions are length 395.5 feet, breadth 35 feet and depth 13 feet.

An official communiqué states that General Feng Yu-hsiang has sent a telegram to General Huang Fu, Chairman of the Peking Political Committee, and General Ho Ying-ching, Nanking Minister for War, denying that he has requested all the northern commanders to join him in a campaign against General Chiang Kai-shek.

The communiqué also states that the forty-seven commanders who allegedly made statements in a recent telegram against the Nanking Government, in fact, did not such thing. The statement, says the communiqué, was a fake.

It was allegedly signed by General Chang Tso-hsiang, General Wan Fu-lin and forty-five others. — Reuter.

ADMIRAL DREYER LEAVES FOR PEKING

Wei-hai-wei, To-day. Admiral and Lady Dreyer sailed from H.M.S. "Falmouth" at 12.30 p.m. for Tientsin and Peking. It is expected that they will return here in a few days. — Reuter.

KEEPING KIDDIES LOVE

Mother Is Baby's First Friend.

How often does one have to listen to someone deplored the fact that Mrs. Brown, who was so passionately attached to those two children of hers whilst they were little, seems to be losing them in some mysterious way, now that they are approaching adolescence! And it is the children who are bland every time. "Selfish, ungrateful little wretches. How can they forget the love she lavished on them in the past?"

This is manifestly unfair to the children, for it depends on the mother of a normal child whether she loses or keeps his love after childhood has passed.

The woman who cuddles and pets her baby overmuch is, whether she realizes it or not, indulging her own feelings at the expense of the little one. She is, unknowingly perhaps, appealing all the time to one side of his nature only, and that side the least advanced in his make-up. And to do this habitually, means inevitably that the child's natural development will be the actual cause of his growing away from her.

A Pool Of Love.

This sounds a hard saying, but it becomes easy to understand when you realize that your baby is born with a kind of pool of love emotion, with practically no outlet anywhere for it, and with himself as the centre of this reservoir of feeling. This is wise Nature's provision for the safety of the frail little life.

His feelings for those around him are purely sensuous in character—he is only influenced by how they minister to his own gratification; his warmth, his comfort, his appetite, his safety, his amusement. And for his reason—and this reason only—he "loves" his mother best of all.

It is a primitive love, but as the child develops, he travels exactly the same road as did the human race: and some day that pool of sensuous love will begin to find outlets for itself, and flow out into all the other types of affection of which the more advanced human creature is capable.

And it is upon the direction taken by this pool of feeling that the future relations of you and your baby will depend.

Different Outlets.

Life supplies various outlets for this feeling. There is the channel of friendship and common interest to draw it in one direction; the admiration for intellectual achievement and physical prowess to send it flowing in another; or compassion and the protective type of feeling to lead it along yet another channel.

If, therefore, you have made your appeal to your child only through the "needing" side of him, it follows that as the child develops and becomes self-reliant, the streams will begin to flow away from you, and you will be left in a desert of utter loneliness.

On the other hand, you can, if you are wise, be his first friend and his first heroine. It only means sometimes setting aside your own interests, giving an "attentive" ear to his questions, and "real" help in the difficulties that his play or "work" with diminutive hammer or spade, demand.

You may not be very strong or very intellectual, but your development in those respects are so in advance of his that he will, if you give him the chance, hail you as a prodigy of physical and intellectual achievement.

TALKIE TALKS
by
DianeMAGNIFICENT LINE-UP OF PICTURES
TO THE CENTRALDIANA WYNYARD'S FIRST APPEARANCE
IN THIS COLONY IN "MEN MUST FIGHT."Vaudeville And Splendid Fox Films Will Delight Patrons of King's.

"Men of Chance" is the first of a series of first-class pictures we're promised. It is smooth and snappy, with an old race-track story, that, despite being told many times has that spontaneity that holds interest, and a cast that means good acting. Ricardo Cortez, lovely Mary Astor and John Halliday being the outstanding figures.

Then comes one of the latest releases from Universal, "Destination Unknown." A strong story that carries a wallop. It is daring, as there is a strong blend of Religion, and portrays the Spirit of Divine Forgiveness and Aid, even to a gang of rum-runners facing death in a sinking ship caught in a storm.

Ralph Bellamy gives a portrayal of the stowaway, who suddenly appears, that is unforgettable. He hauls a withered arm, turns the rum into water and guides them safely to shore. Pat O'Brien, Alan Hale, Russell Hopton, and Tom Brown also do excellently, with Betty Compson as the water-front woman adding the necessary love interest. A film I advise you seeing.

"Symphony of Six Million." Then comes "The Symphony of Six Million." By popular vote this picture as "The Melody of Life" was acclaimed the second best of last year's releases by the millions of readers of the popular "tupenny" weekly magazine—"The Picturegoer," at home.

Ricardo Cortez soared to the heights by his magnificent acting. It is a beautifully told story for tears and laughter, and what it lacks in greatness it makes up for in human interest. Just the joys and sorrows of a typical Ghetto family. Three children, Momma and Papa. Ricardo Cortez, one of the sons, becomes a doctor in a tenement district, dedicating his skill to the suffering poor. When he moves to Park Avenue his ideals of service are lowered.

I will not tell the story, but there is a delightful love interest. Irene Dunne plays a cripple who devotes her time to helping blind children. By the by, all the children were recruited from a "Home" in Los Angeles, and prove natural "actors." Gregory Ratoff and Anna Appel are grand in their parts. In the States and in the British Isles this film has been acclaimed, and it deserves to have the same Box-office appeal here. (Central).

"Men Must Fight."

Diana Wynyard, the lovely English girl of twenty-six, who found world fame by her marvellous performance in the greatest talkie to date—"Cavalcade," comes to us in one of her latest M.G.M. releases "Men Must Fight."

She has not the same opportunity to shine, yet she could not give anything but a dignified and tender performance as the wife and mother whose heart was broken by her bitter experience in the Great War. She is a beautiful actress, and to hear her say these words will set you thinking of the utter futility of war. "You tear our sons from our arms, and when they are gone, you pin a medal on our breasts, to take the place of the boy we have lost." Gold Star Mothers.

After the last war that was to end all wars, you herded them together, these mothers, on a ship, dumped them down on a cold barren field in France, covered with crosses, and said "Woman behold thy son."

The time of the play is 1940, when war is declared against an imaginary country. The wife of the Secretary of State had a son born during the great war, whom she has brought up to hate everything military. It is the struggle of the boy—(Philip Holmes) to adjust himself to this belief, to realize that he is a wife. Some scenes of beautiful, too, when thereby hangs the story, but you will have a grand evening's entertainment, watching experienced players make you enjoy the oft-told tale. (King's).

Coming, a British film, "while London Sleeps." Yes, the old old "Drammer" you remember as a child. Heroine escaping from a burning house by walking the telephone wires.

Followed by one of the greatest actors on the screen to-day, Paul Muni in the finest gangster story "Scarface," supposedly the life of Chicago's "King" Scarface Al Capone. Then delightful Ina Claire, Joan Blondell, Madge Evans, David Manners and that super showman, Lowell Sherman, in "The Greeks Had a Word For Them." Smart, naughty but amusingly different. Due at the King's.

I'M TELLING YOU.

Diana Wynyard is the daughter of a Harley Street physician. Educated at exclusive schools, Trained for the stage under expert teachers. Made her first appearance in a mob scene as one of the crowd. First chance to act in Hackett's "Sorry You've Been Troubled," Sent to New York to act as lead in "The Devil Passes" Snatched up to go to Hollywood and given the coveted role of the wife and mother in Noel Coward's "Cavalcade," which has made film history.

Other films in which she has appeared are: "Men Must Fight," "Rasputin and the Empress" with the three members of the Barrymore family and just finished the smart comedy-drama of the Alfred Lunt—"Re-union in Vienna" with John Barrymore. Now on holiday in London, where she hopes to create the part of Charlotte Bronte in Clemence Dane's new play "Wild Decembers," before returning to her generous Metro contract in Hollywood.

Charley Chase and pretty wife to whom he has been married for eighteen years, are having a grand time in England. The Ben Lyons, (Bebe Daniels) have signed contracts for musicals for B.I.F., and Louella Parsons, the famous American Columnist writer, is exploring the fact that so many of the best artists are keen to act in British films. Among them being Douglas Fairbanks Junr. and Thelma Todd, who will be leading lady for Stanley Lupino in "You make me love you." Ronald Colman after a triumph in "Cynara" and "The Masquerader" proposes to try the stage in London, and stay away from films for two years.

Charles Farrell is now dickering with British Studios. The Gleasons, Jimmy, wife and son, are all in the home studios and are tremendously popular. Likewise Edward Everett Horton who is commuting between Hollywood and London. Now at work with Leslie Henson in "It's A Boy."

Sally Blane, pretty sister of Loretta Young, will also appear in a British studio, and Esther Ralston has left the States with husband and daughter for permanent residence in England. No wonder Louella Parsons is becoming scared!

The show has everything, music, comedy, dancing, harmony and manikins. On Sunday they appear at all the shows, but the rest of the visit they "Cut" the 2:30 show. BE SURE TO SEE THIS TALENTED COMPANY. (King's).

Hot Saturday" is a far-fetched drama of youthful indiscretions in an American small town. Just a little daring, with the present generations rebelling against straight-laced morality. Certainly well acted and staged. Nancy Carroll, Gary Grant, Randolph Scott and Edward Wood are all true to life. Lillian Bond and W. Collier Snr. do well in "bits."

Most of the scenes are domestic, but there is one colourful scene at a lakeside dancing resort. I think Nancy Carroll is best in it. She is ideally cast as the girl who loves life, and is therefore branded as "fast." Quite worth seeing. (Queen's).

"Bachelor's Affairs."

"Bachelor's Affairs" gives us Adolphe Menjou in an unusual role. Marries a young wife, thinking it a cure for old age. Joan Marsh is the "dizzy" blond, with Minna Gombell as her ambitious sister. Irene Purcell is likeable as the real love. I like Joan Bennett and Ben Lyon in "Weekends Only" far better. Sumptuous apartments, gay night clubs, beautiful girls and gowns, handsome men and you have a flaming talkie.

John Bennett on the death of a rich father is forced to turn hostess in a night club operated by her ex-butler. Also as a side-line she assists rich bachelors to entertain for weekends only.

Would you believe it? The hero refuses to believe in the purity and innocence of beautiful Joan Bennett, and she is forced to prove it to him. She does, and he is won over. The Venice. Unconscious that it was making history, a cart horse inaugurated the new bridge which makes Venice, for the first time in its history, no longer an island.

The bridge crosses the Lagoon and the Grand Canal and links the city with the mainland. It is one of the longest in Europe.

The Mayor of Venice was to have inaugurated the bridge by driving over it in a car. But a horse, harnessed to an empty cart standing near the entrance to the bridge, decided otherwise. Before the amazed spectators could interfere, it had pulled its cart over into Venice.

He is the only horse to have an opportunity of crossing the new bridge for it is part of a "motor-way" and is forbidden to horse traffic.—Reuter.

SEX-DETERMINATION
POSSIBLE.Russian Scientist's Claim.

ELECTRICAL TREATMENT.

Moscow.

Sex pre-determination in the reproduction of certain animals is claimed to have been achieved by Prof. Nicolai Konstantinovich Koltzoff, head of the Moscow Institute of Animal Breeding.

An electrical treatment which separates the male and female elements of spermatozoa is reported discovered by the scientist. Offspring of either sex desired can be obtained, it is said, by injecting a solution of the opposite sex in the female.

The operation was performed on three female rabbits. The first, impregnated artificially with male spermatozoa, bore six females; the second, with female spermatozoa, bore four males and one female, and the third, with mixed spermatozoa, gave birth to two of each sex. The professor said the second bore one female because of difficulty in obtaining complete isolation with the experimental apparatus.

He said segregation also had succeeded with horses, but that impregnation has not been attempted. He stressed the importance of the discovery in animal breeding.

It was first determined, he said, that male and female organisms react differently to electrical current. Natural spermatozoa were deposited in the curved end of a horse-shoe shaped tube and the tube was filled with a "physiological solution" one of the chief elements in the discovery. A slight electrical current then drew male and female elements to opposite ends of the tube.

The male spermatozoa were drawn to the anodes or the side where the current entered the tube, and the female to the cathodes, where the current left, the professor explained.

Ver Nicolayevna Schroeder, a woman biochemist, one of his chief assistants, collaborated in the experiment.—Reuter.

Dr. Mueller Of Munich.
Professor Friedrich Von Mueller, most famous of German doctors, is in London. He has come with a group of German professors, and will carry out dining and speaking engagements in Cambridge, Leeds, Edinburgh and London.

Once he was rector of the Munich University. To-day he is head of the Munich Krankenhaus. At 74 he is a strong, vigorous and incisive personality.

Dr. Mueller is a great Royalist. Even during the Bolshevik revolution in Munich he insisted on keeping the ex-Kaiser's portrait on the wall of his hospital. The Communists went for him. They riddled the private wards of the Krankenhaus with machine-gun bullets.

Although for weeks on end he never slept in his own house, or, indeed, two nights running in the same house, Dr. Mueller continued to work overtime in his hospital, and to keep the ex-Kaiser's portrait in its place.

Now, of course, the ex-Kaiser's likeness is popular mural decoration once again.

A Tudor Gallery.
The Berengaria has undergone a complete overhaul. The furniture and appointments are all of British make.

A new Tudor long gallery which now adorns one of the "tourist" decks consists of whitewashed roofs and walls supported by dark half-timbering made from New Forest trees, together with an array of antique lantern-lights and appropriate old prints.

NATIONALIST RIVALRY STIRRED

POLISH CORRIDOR PROBLEM REVIVED

Washington, Silesia, a part of which, with valuable mineral resources, was acquired by Poland under a plebiscite. Two million Germans in Polish-governed territory are supposed to have League protection.

The treaty awarded the Saar basin to France for 15 years, which meant the loss to Germany of most of her iron ore. France, of course, obtained the "lost provinces" of Alsace-Lorraine. Smaller units of territory went to Belgium, Lithuania and Denmark.

Germany was virtually disarmed at Versailles, and Hitlerism has been accompanied by militarism. The treaty forbade Germany to use conscription, and limited the German army to 100,000 men enlisted for 12 years. A small flotilla of naval ships was permitted for training addresses. The powers accepted coast defense, but submarines and military aircraft were forbidden. Coast defenses were demolished and the left bank of the Rhine was demilitarized.

The section of the treaty providing for trial of the former Kaiser was never operative, because Holland refused to surrender him.

War Guilt

One of the most irksome clauses of the treaty to the Germans has been that causing her to accept responsibility for the war. German leaders repeatedly have denied Germany's sole guilt, and have sought to produce evidence supporting this contention.

Reparations provided in the treaty, have been an endless source of dispute. Originally Germany was asked to pay thirty-one billion dollars in annual installments of five hundred millions. France was to get 52 per cent of Britain's 22. There were also payments in kind. Reparations subsequently have been greatly reduced, but remain a source of friction.

The treaty gave a large part of the German merchant marine to Great Britain. A degree of international control was established over German waterways.

The treaty also forbade union of Germany and Austria, now being agitated. The war left Austria a country of 6,000,000 German-speaking people, unable to support herself economically, and with an army limited to 30,000.

YACHT LEAVES H. K. FOR ENGLAND

Adventurous Trip By Naval Officers.

PANAMA ROUTE CHOSEN FOR LONG CRUISE

The Taimoshan, a 23½ ton yacht manned by five officers of the Royal Navy, left Hong Kong on Wednesday for England via Japan, the Panama Canal and New York.

The officers are, Lt. R. E. D. Ryder, of H.M.S. Olympus, Lt. P. C. Francis of H.M.S. Otus and Lt. G. S. Salt of H.M.S. Oswald, these three officers being attached to the 4th Submarine Flotilla. The two other officers are Surg. Lt. C. Ommann-Davis of H.M.S. Bridgewater and Lt. Comdr. Sherwood of H.M.S. Hermes.

All five members of the crew are on Service leave, and no single member of the crew has contributed financially any more than the other.

The Taimoshan is painted a light green and was designed by Mr. H. S. Rouse, Vice-Commodore of the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club, assisted by Mr. E. Cock, Chief Manager of the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Co. Ltd. (Kowloon Docks), who constructed her. She took her first trials at the end of March.

Except for sporting guns the ship is devoid of weapons.

On a seven ton lead keel, with a displacement of 23½ tons, the Taimoshan is 54 feet over all, and 42 feet designed water line. Her draft is 8 feet 6 inches, and she has a sail area of 1,040 square feet in ketchrigg. Her extreme beam is 12 feet 2½ inches, with a beam on the water line of 11 feet 11½ inches. There is no boom.

LEAGUE REPORT ON PETITION

To The Editor "China Mail."

Sir.—In June of last year you very kindly published at my request an extract from the Sunday Sketch and Sunday News of May 22, 1932, containing a brief account of the distressful plight of several hundreds of Britain's Old War Horses in Egypt. Many of your readers were good enough to forward donations to me for transmission on their behalf to Lady Doris Gunston, 15 Southwick Crescent, W.2.

In a letter received to-day Lady Doris Gunston informs me that she is again hard at work in the interests of those remaining, and that any further assistance sent to her from Hong Kong would be very much appreciated. She further states that the Ball held last year had realised the handsome amount of £1,500 net and that Mrs. Brooke from Egypt had informed her that as far as can be foreseen the proceeds of the next Ball ought to clear up all the poor old War Horses in Egypt.

I have already sent individual acknowledgments for donations made to me last year, but I am sure that all your readers interested in this movement will be delighted to learn of the very gratifying progress made on behalf of these most deserving dumb friends of ours who served our Empire so well in its hour of greatest peril.

I am, Sir,
Yours, etc.,
D. DAVIES.

Draft Convention To Be Prepared.

COMMISSION TO ADJOURN UNTIL JULY 3

London, To-day. In a House of Commons' statement on the proceedings at the Disarmament Conference, Sir John Simon yesterday said that the meeting of the General Commission, held yesterday morning, had decided that the Bureau should be charged with the work of preparing the text of the draft convention, for what was called the second reading.

The President, Mr. Arthur Henderson, was charged with the conduct of negotiations to facilitate this work.

When the General Commission had completed the first reading, they would adjourn until July 3.

Technical committees would continue their work, and when the general committee had completed the first reading of the United Kingdom draft, a proposal will be made by the President to take it as the basis for the convention to be negotiated.—British Wireless Service.

To-Day's Short Story.

Vasco's Sweetheart

By Percival Gibbon.

As to that," said the Vrouw Grobelaar, answering a point that no one had raised, "it has been seen over and over again that sin leaves its mark. Do you not trust or avoid a man because there is honour or wickedness in his face? Ah, men's faces are the writing on the wall, and only the Belshazzars can read them."

"But the marks go deeper than a lowing brow or a cruel mouth. Men may die and leave behind them no monuments save their sin. Of such a case I remember one instance."

"Before my second husband was married to his first wife he lived out yonder, on the Portuguese border, and in the thick of the fever country. I have not seen the place, but it is badly spoken of for a desolate unchancy land, bad for cattle, and only good to hunters. My second husband was a great hunter, and died, as you know, through having his body crushed by lions. The people out there are not good Boer stock, but a wild and savage folk, with dark blood in them."

"I only know this story from my second husband, but it took hold of me, as he used to tell it. There was a family in those parts of the name of Preez. No relation to the Due Preez you know, who are well enough in their way, but Preez simply—a short name and a bad one."

"They were big holders of land, with every reason to be rich, but bad farmers, lazy hunters and deep drinkers. The Kaffirs down there make a drink out of fruit which is very fiery and conquers a man quickly, and these people were always to be seen half drunk, or else stupid from the stuff. Old Preez, the father, in particular, was a terrible man, by all tellings, full three score and ten years of age, but strong, fiery and full of oaths. My second husband used to say there was something in the look of him that daunted one; for his hair and his beard were white, his face was savagely red, and his eyes were like clung to the old man's knees and besought the mercy they never gave and never got. Even the wild folk of the country-side were stricken with the horror and impurity of the deed; and it says much for the fear in which the Preez family were held that none molested them or called them to account."

"In the end the eldest of the five sons took a mind to marry, and to leave some of his accrued stock to plague the world when it should be delivered from him and brothers."

"They cast about for a wife for him, and were not content with the first that offered. They had their pride, the Preez, and in their place a fair measure of respect, for among the wicked, you know, the devil is king. From one farmhouse to another they rode, dragging forth women and girls to be looked at like cattle. Many a tall, black-browed hussy would have been content to go away with Vasco Preez (such was his unchristian name), but he was not willing to do right by any of them."

"They were returning home from one of these expeditions when they passed a lonely house beside the road with no fence around it."

"But before the house a girl stood on the grass, with her Kape in her hand, to see the six big men ride by. She was little and slim, and, unlike the maidens of the country, whitish, with a bunch of yellow hair on the top of her head and hanging over her ears. The others would have passed her by, judging her unworthy even an insult, but Vasco reined in his horse and shouted a great oath."

"The woman for me!" he cried. "The woman I was looking for! I never knew what I wanted before."

"The others hasted to look, and the girl, frightened, ran into the house. Vasco got down from his horse."

"Fetch the filly out," shouted the old man. "Fetch her out and let us see her nose."

"Vasco walked straight into the little house, while the others waited, laughing. They heard no screams and no fighting, and presently out comes Vasco alone."

"He went over to his horse and mounted. There is nothing to wait for," he said. "Let us be getting on."

"But the girl!" cried one of his brothers. "Is she dead, or what?"

"No," said Vasco, "but she would not come."

"Would not come!" bellowed the old father, while the others laughed. "Did you say she would not come?"

"That is what I said," answered Vasco, sitting his horse very straight, and bawling at the lot of them.

"He has never cried, the old man, looking from one to another. He is light in the head. My faith!"

"I believe the girl has been beating him with a stick. Here one of you be scared, turning on them and down and kick the girl out of the door. Well, have a look at the wine!"

"Y" POLO
TEAM WIN
BY 10 TO 0

Young Companions
Overwhelmed.

SCHREUDER GOES NAP.

(By CRAWL.)

THE Young Companions' Swimming Association, a newly formed Chinese Club, were decisively defeated by the European Y.M.C.A. by 10 goals to nil at water polo in the "Y" bath yesterday evening.

The winners played a brilliant game, especially the forwards, who were responsible for 8 goals in the first half. Their combination and understanding were perfect.

Schreuder, the "Y" captain again distinguished himself by scoring five excellent goals, of which two were magnificent efforts.

Schreuder scored two good goals in the first three minutes. Kerr put the "Y" three goals ahead with a powerful backhand.

Ralton, the "Y" pivot scored the fourth in a sensational swim through, during which he cleverly swam round Shek Kam-pui, the Chinese star man, down the right side of the bath to tip the ball over the advancing Ho Kin.

Schreuder's third goal and the "Y" fifth was a masterpiece. Receiving a lob from Campbell, he swam for the right corner flag and then shot from a very acute angle with a backhand. He followed this a few seconds later with a long distance back hand throw which, however, looked a very doubtful goal. Kerr and Campbell followed this goal with one each, the interval arriving with the "Y" 8 goals in the lead.

"Y" Score From Foul.

In the second half Wong Man-chiu was ordered out by the referee for obstructing Ralton from a free throw, and as a result the "Y" scored their ninth, Schreuder cleverly rolling under the outstretched arms of Li Ki-yeung's arm to tip the ball past Ho Kin.

Just before the final whistle Kerr added the "Y" final goal with a fine forehand following good combination among the forwards.

Mr. F. W. Stephens refereed and lined up the following:

Y.M.C.A.: — H. Angus; K. Jenner and R. Goldman; E. W. Ralton; W. F. Kerr, W. Schreuder (captain) and W. Campbell.

Young Companion's Assn.: — Ho Kin; Li Ki-yeung and Fung Kwok-wa; Li E. Long; Shek Kam-pui, Leung Chun-wa and Wo Man-chiu.

BOWLS CHAMPIONS AT HOME TO DOCKS TO-MORROW

BRADBURY RESCUES THE CHAMPIONS

Basto And Macfarlane
Lose 100 Per Cent.

ELEVEN UNDEFEATED SKIPS

Xavier and Glendinning Reveal Brilliant form

DAIRY FARM BEAT P. & O.
(By SHORT HEAD.)

CRAIGENGOWER received a scare on Saturday when Tai-koo held them to a margin of five shots. Only a brilliant effort by B. W. Bradbury saved the champions from defeat. J. C. Chalmers's rink lay 3 up on the last head after securing a 11 shots advantage and had an outside chance of pulling the match out of the fire. Bradbury, however, dashed their hopes by reducing the lay to only one with a brilliant shot.

* * *

100 per cent Records Smashed. H. BASTO lost his fine A. junior division skip record on Saturday when W. S. Drake's four secured a win by 9 shots. A. Macfarlane also sustained his first defeat. The only skips who remain undefeated are W. V. Field, F. Rapley, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southorn; A. Razack, F. Sutton, E. M. Remedios and H. Alves.

* * *

Nish still in Lead. H. NISH again succeeded in H. skipping his rink to victory in the premier league on Saturday—the only K.B.G.C. skip to win—and is at present heading a select band of four skips with unbeaten records. A. W. Grimmitt, J. C. Chalmers and R. Lapsley are the other skips with 100 per cent records.

Lapsley robbed G. C. Moss of his fine record at Happy Valley on Saturday by a 22-13 win.

Saturday's Thrill at K.B.G.C. F. RAPLEY's rink (C. E. Elliott-Haywood, T. Hard, and G. E. F. Thompson) experienced a thrilling struggle against H. Alves's four (L. Silva; J. Noronha, and J. G. Ozorio) on Saturday. Led 17-15 on the 17th head they played brilliantly to take 20-17 lead at the 19th end. The Recreio quartette, however, recovered splendidly to square the match on the next end. They prevented any score by their rivals on the last head for the game to end in a draw. The bowling of Alves was the feature of the encounter.

This result shattered Rapley's 100 per cent. skip record and he has now given place to W. V. Field at the head of the table.

Xavier's Brilliant Bowling. THE feature of F. X. M. Silva's big win over W. Macfarlane was the remarkable bowling of F. A. Xavier, the Recreio No. 1. He was in magnificent form on a green made considerably slower by the rain. On another rink in this encounter Adam Holland lost to C. E. Marques by 2 shots after laying beautifully for a five and a drawn game. Marques, however, carried the "jack" with his final shot to leave only a three.

* * *

Glendinning in good form. W. GLENDENNING was in W. fine fettle for the Police second string on Saturday. Time and again B. A. Hyder's rink lay with fours and fives only to see the Police skip bring off a great shot to snatch the points. The Indians were beaten by 20 to 9 on this rink.

* * *

Glendinning v. Wetherpoon. THE First Round tie between W. Glendinning (Police) and D. Rungjahn (Craigengower) will be decided on the Civil Service green on Wednesday. W. Wetherpoon (Tai-koo) will not meet E. M. Simmonds (Civil Service) on the same day on the Police green as previously arranged.

MITCHELL & RAMSAY ENTER SECOND ROUND

XAVIER AND ALVES LOSE

G. N. MITCHELL (Kowloon Dock) and J. V. Ramsay, also of the Docks, entered the Second Round of the Colony Championship yesterday at the K.C.C. when they defeated F. A. Xavier and J. M. Alves, both Recreio entrants.

Mitchell will meet E. G. Post (Police) in the Second Round, while Ramsay will play either W. Wetherpoon (Tai-koo) or E. W. Simmonds (Civil Service).

"Koos, the youngest, sprang from his saddle and made towards the house; but he was not gone five paces before Vasco spurred his horse on to him and knocked him down.

"Keep off," he said, then, turning to face them all, as Koos rose slowly. "If I cannot bring the girl out none of you can, and you had better not try. Whoever does will be hurt, for I shall stand in front of the door."

"And he went straight to the house and, dismounting, stood in the doorway, with his hands resting on the beam above his head. He was a big man, and he filled the door.

"Hear him," foamed the old father. "God, if I were as young as any of you, I would drag the girl across his body. Sons, he has defied us, and the girl has bewitched him. Run at him, lads, and bring them both out!"

"They all came towards the house in a body, but stopped when Vasco raised his hand.

"I warn you," he told them. "This will not be an affair of fighting, with only broken bones to mend when it is over. If I take hold of anyone after this warning, that man will be cold before the sun sets. And to show you how useless this quarrel is, I will ask the girl once more if she will come out. You all saw her?"

"Yes," they answered; "but what is this foolery about asking her?"

"You saw her—very well." He raised his voice and called into the house, "Meisje, will you not come out? I ask you to."

"There was silence for a moment, and then they heard the answer. 'No,' it said; 'I will stay where I am. And you are to go away.'

"As soon as may be, my girl," called Vasco in answer. "Now, he said to the men, 'you see she will not come.'

"But, man, in the name of God, cast her over your shoulder and carry her out," cried the father.

"Vasco looked at him. 'Not this one,' he said. 'She shall do as she pleases.'

"Two dead," answered his father. "And the other will not walk again all his days. You are a terrible fighter, my son."

"Yes," answered Vasco, in a faint voice. "It was the girl, you see."

"She was a witch, then?" asked the old man.

"No," said Vasco, smiling. "Or, perhaps, yes. I do not know. But I will fight for her again if you talk to them."

"Come on," he was saying. "Come all of you. We shall never do anything but fight now. I see plainly we ought to have fought long ago. Bring her out, indeed!"

"They paused after that, aghast at the fury of the man they were contending against. But the old man gave them no rest.

"Get sticks," he cried to them—"get sticks and kill him!"

"Yes," answered the father. "Your face is becoming grey. Your throat will rattle in a minute. Look here, this is what my mother used to do."

"And he did thus," said the Grobelaar, giving a very good imitation of the sign of the Cross.

"But that was not a bad ending," cried Katje. "I think it was beautiful. I hope Vasco and the girl went straight to God."

The Vrouw Grobelaar sighed.

with his hands resting as before at the top of the door. They were bewildered at his manner, and very cautious, but at length they drew near and rushed at him.

"Then a most astonishing thing happened. With one wrench Vasco tore the thick architrave from the wall, a beam as thick as a man's thigh, and smote into the middle of them. Where he hit the bone gave and the flesh fell away, and as they ran from before him the wall fell in.

"Down came the wall, and with it heavy beams on the roof. The old father, cursing over a broken arm, heard the girl scream, and saw the wreck come crashing about Vasco's shoulders till he disappeared below it. And then, where the house had been stood a ruin with two souls buried in the midst of it.

"It steadied them like a dash of cold water. However, they might fight among themselves, they were loyal to one another. Besides the old father, with his broken arm, there was only one other that could put a hand to drag away the beams and bricks and stones that covered Vasco and the work, and together they started the girl.

"I know they were wicked men who are in hell long since, but I cannot contain a sort of admiration for the spirit that fastened them to their toil all that long night—the old man with his broken arm, the young one with a dozen horrid wounds. As the sky paled towards morning they discovered the girl dead, and, leaving her where she lay, they wrought on to uncover Vasco.

"When they found him he was crushed and broken and pierced in many places with splinters and jagged broken ends of wood. But he had his sensibilities still, and smiled as they cleared the thatch from above his face.

"The old man looked at him carefully. 'You are dying, my son,' he said.

"Of course," answered Vasco. "Is that Renault?" He smiled again at his brother. "So there are two of you alive, anyhow. How about the others?"

"Two dead," answered his father. "And the other will not walk again all his days. You are a terrible fighter, my son."

"Yes," answered Vasco, in a faint voice. "It was the girl, you see."

"She was a witch, then?" asked the old man.

"No," said Vasco, smiling. "Or, perhaps, yes. I do not know. But I will fight for her again if you talk to them."

"Come on," he was saying. "Come all of you. We shall never do anything but fight now. I see plainly we ought to have fought long ago. Bring her out, indeed!"

"They paused after that, aghast at the fury of the man they were contending against. But the old man gave them no rest.

"But that was not a bad ending," cried Katje. "I think it was beautiful. I hope Vasco and the girl went straight to God."

450TH TRIP OF THE OLYMPIC.

"Grand Old Lady Of Atlantic."

A LINER REBUILT.

Southampton. The White Star liner Olympic (46,439 tons), the largest British-built ship afloat, set out from Southampton on her 450th voyage across the Atlantic.

"The liner, she's a lady," wrote Kipling; but the Olympic is a Grand Old Lady—the Grand Old Lady of the Atlantic.

That exactly describes her—particularly after she has been refurbished, and overhauled in readiness for the season's traffic. Among ships which traverse the North Atlantic she is the Grande Dame; she sails the ocean, as it were, with an air—proud of her past performances and confident of her ability to repeat them in the future.

A Floating Home. Nowadays we are told that all ships are floating hotels, self-contained cities, and the like. But the Olympic is more than that—she is a floating home for her passengers, whether they travel first-class, tourist, or third. She has always been renowned for her comfort, and when she left Southampton, the Olympic, thanks to the improvements which have been made during the recent overhaul, was one of the most luxuriously comfortable vessels that have ever set out from an English port.

It is not claimed that she is a flyer, but she is fast and can cross the western ocean at a steady 22 knots. The great secret of her popularity is comfort, and that, with security, are the watchwords of the 2,000 souls that man her from the skipper, Capt. J. W. Binks, to the youngest cabin boy.

I wonder how many rooms in the mansions of Mayfair contain carvings which to-day would cost more than £5,000? Yet in one first-class stateroom—B 62—that is the present-day value of this class of decoration. Incidentally no fewer than 186 men worked on them when they were being installed 22 years ago. That is an indication of the luxury of the first-class cabins.

"Talkies" for Everyone. In the tourist class the degree of luxury is little less; indeed, some of the cabins now in this category were first-class a voyage or two ago. And the third-class accommodation has to be seen to be believed. It falls short of the first and tourist standards only in non-essentials.

As for the public rooms, in all classes they are in keeping with the Olympic standard of luxury and comfort. There are "talkies" for everyone, a gymnasium, squash rackets court—in which the Prince of Wales has played—swimming pool, Turkish baths, and, of course, nurseries for the very young.

As for the catering, that, as in all White Star liners, is marvellous. There is nothing that a passenger could ask for that cannot be supplied. Passengers need not take the ordinary meals unless they desire, but instead can have a handsome rebate from their passage money and breakfast, lunch, dine, and sup at their own expense in the ever-open restaurant which in every respect is the equal of any to be found in London, Paris, or Berlin.

Her War Record. In the dining-saloon a word to the steward will ensure that any special diet is strictly observed, and those who have vegetarian preferences are also catered for, while for the ever-increasing number of orthodox Jews who travel in every class special Kosher arrangements are made.

Before the ship sails from Southampton a Rabbi supervises the selection and storing of the food—subsequently prepared in Kosher kitchens by Kosher cooks—to be served at the Kosher tables. There is also Kosher glass, cutlery, and chinaware.

This is typical of the thoroughness with which they do things in the Olympic. But then the Olympic always has been thorough. Witness her war record—she started off by rescuing the crew of H.M.S. Audacious, sunk off the Irish coast in the early days of the war; carried many thousands of troops to Gallipoli and elsewhere; and in a life and death duel with a German submarine proved victorious.

ODENSHOLM TO BE REPLACED

Götaverken, Gothenburg, has received from the Swedish America-Mexico Line an order for a motorship of 5,330 tons d.w. and 13 knots to replace the Odenholm.

PHILIPPINE MISSION ARRIVING.

Distinguished Visitors Due To-morrow.

At daylight to-morrow, the Philippine Independence Mission will arrive in Hong Kong by the Lloyd Trieste liner, "Conte Rosso."

Those comprising the Mission are:

Hon. Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate and Chairman of the Nationalist (Government) Party.

Hon. Sergio Osmeña, President Pro Tempore, Philippine Senate, and Vice-Chairman of the Nationalist.

Hon. Manuel Roxas, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Hon. Rupert Montinola, Minority Floor Leader, Philippine Senate. Hon. Emilio T. Tirona, Minority Floor Leader, House of Representatives.

With them are their respective families, as well as their technical advisers and private secretaries, numbering about sixty in all.

9-Day Stay.

They expect to stay in the Colony about a week, during which time the local Filipino Club and the Filipino Community will be their hosts at a banquet to be given at the Peninsula Hotel in their honour. They are due to sail for Manila on the "Empress of Japan" leaving on June 9.

With the exception of Mr.

Quezon who met the Mission in Europe, the other members were in the United States for the past several months and they worked hard for the approval of the Hawes-

Cutting Law in the United States

Congress, grafting independence to the Philippine Islands after 10

Local Filipinos are preparing to give the Mission a rousing welcome

when the "Conte Rosso" docks at the Kowloon Wharf.
